DECCAN INTERNATIONAL ANNOUNCES 2005 USERS CONFERENCE

Ninth Annual Users Conference to be held October 10-14, 2005
in San Diego at the Manchester Grand Hyatt

SAN DIEGO, CA., JUNE 20, 2005 — Deccan International, the leading developer of decision support software solutions for Fire, 9-1-1, and EMS operations, which provides powerful easy-to-use, map-oriented software tools enabling fire fighting operations to become more efficient today announced it will host its Ninth Annual Users Conference, October 10-14, 2005 at the Manchester Grand Hyatt in San Diego, CA. As in past years, major high profile metropolitan fire fighting organizations such as Cincinnati, Dallas, Miami-Dade, San Diego, Seattle, and the U.S. Fire Administration will be joining other US and international fire chiefs, chiefs of operations, EMS directors, department analysts, EMS and 911 communications center managers at this important annual industry event. Interested organizations are encouraged to register on Deccan's web site at http://www.deccanintl.com/Pages/confer\_2005.htm.

"This year's conference will be the most significant one to date," affirmed Latha Nagaraj, President of Deccan International. "We have held a Users Conference every year since we started the company in 1995, but this year we are hosting two extra days of intense software module training and have added several comprehensive one-on-one sessions between our users and their Deccan Project Manager.

In addition, we have inserted a special training session on the popular LiveMUM™ Move-Up module and a Users Roundtable with Fire Department application presentations slated for Thursday, October 13th and Friday October 14th. We expect these two sessions to be a big hit and extremely informative. There isn't a fire fighting community anywhere in the United States that wouldn't benefit from obtaining information about LiveMUM," stated Ms. Nagaraj.
